

Australia New Zealand UK Mails to 1880

Rates Routes and Ships Out and Home. Second Edition

By Colin Tabeart, Australian Philatelic Research Medal

The first edition of this highly-regarded work sold out in six months. This was a strictly limited printing, now with less than 12 copies left – order today!

Since the first edition was published in 2004 events of major significance to the researcher have occurred. First the London Times became available on line, then some of the Australian newspaper archives and more or less simultaneously the New Zealand newspapers. The two latter sites, run initially by the respective Governments, are excellent. Using these resources the author has completely overhauled the original edition, making improvements in most areas, notably in the Pacific Routes chapter where a number of gaps have been completed, and similarly in the Torres Straits chapter. It should now be possible to ascertain the route and ship(s) by which a letter travelled for over 95% of all letters carried by packet ships up to 1880. The Rates section has been carefully overhauled and is believed to be substantially complete for letter rates by all the routes. It is not possible to be specific as to what has been altered or added to, but at a rough guess new information now comprises some 20% of the total. The book now contains:

- 62 pages on postage rates
 - 6 pages concerning ship letters
 - 22 pages of general discussion on packet letters
 - 12 pages covering the Toulmin Packets
 - 36 pages on the first steamer contracts – ARM, P&O, and General Screw
 - 26 pages on the contract clipper ships
 - 34 pages on the European & Australian
 - 86 pages on the P&O service from 1859-1880
 - 74 pages on the Pacific routes to Panama then San Francisco
 - 38 pages on the Torres Straits services by the Eastern & Australian Line
 - 22 pages on the Orient Line
- And a Bibliography, plus General and Ship Indexes.

The book is well illustrated in black & white, is hardbound, and A4 size, packed with data and interesting information in extensive Notes to the sailings tables. A companion Volume 2 has also been published, taking the story on from 1881 to 1900 – see below.

Australia New Zealand UK Mails

Volume 2 – 1881-1900

Rates Routes and Ships Out and Home

By Colin Tabeart, Australian Philatelic Research Medal

Covers every contract packet mail sailing between the UK and Australia/New Zealand 1881-1900, mostly hitherto not recorded.

Since the first edition of Vol 1 was published in 2004 events of major significance to the researcher have occurred. First the London Times became available on line, then some of the Australian newspaper archives and more or less simultaneously the New Zealand newspapers. The two latter sites, run initially by the respective Governments, are excellent. The author has spent much of the last 6 years continuing the story of the ANZUK mails on from volume 1 to encompass 1881-1900. In this exciting and much neglected period the number of mails per month to and from the colonies more than doubled, and the postage rates are by no means as simple as some collectors might assume. Some are extremely rare – 1 or 2 voyages only. Some of these lines have never been researched in this detailed manner before, notably the Norddeutscher Lloyd, the New Zealand Shipping Company, the Torres Straits Queensland Royal Mail service, and the All Red Route via Vancouver. Others have been researched, but poorly and lacking detail, other than the Orient Line by Molnar, although the Author respectfully submits this work is an improvement even on Molnar. It is certainly a great improvement on Kirk and Salles with respect to the P&O and the Messageries Maritimes. The book contains:

- A 10 page introduction
- 20 pages on postage rates, probably the best compendium of ANZUK rates yet published
- 56 pages on the P&O service from 1881-1900 – a great improvement on Kirk
- 60 pages on the Orient Line
- 54 pages on the San Francisco route – never before published
- 72 pages on the Torres Straits services operated by British India (Queensland Royal Mail) - never before published
- 34 pages on the Messageries Maritimes – a great improvement on Salles.
- 28 pages on the Norddeutscher Lloyd – never previously published
- 30 pages on the New Zealand Shipping Co route by the Two Capes route - never before published
- 20 pages on the All Red Route via Vancouver - never before published
- A chapter on the Australasian Cruiser Squadron - never before published
- And a Bibliography, General and Ship Indexes.

The book is well illustrated in black & white, hardbound, A4 size, packed with data and interesting information in extensive Notes to the sailings tables. A companion Volume 1 (Second Edition) has also been published, covering the period to 1880.
